ROYGBIV

September 4, 2021–January 2, 2022

Rodney LaTourelle and Louise Witthöft
Anri Sala

Red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet; this exhibition is a maximalist tribute to colour. The artists featured in ROYGBIV are interested in colour's ability to alter mood, change behaviour, or simply transform space. Colours can conjure joy and playfulness; they can shape social spaces and can even be employed for social control. The projects in ROYGBIV reveal a relationship between colour, architectural form, the inner and outer spaces they can create and the resulting effects on the human body.

The subtle and not so subtle shifts and changes in colour across ROYGBIV are meant to not only engage you but to change you.

Alex Janvier, Lubicon, 1988. Acrylic on canvas. Art Gallery of Alberta Collection, purchased with funds from the Estate of Jean Victoria Sinclair.

SOAK, STRIPE, SPLATTER: Collecting Colour at the AGA

October 9, 2021- January 30, 2022

Our perception of colour occurs when light, striking an object, is reflected back to our eye. Our experience of colour, however, is much more subjective. Colour is a sensation, a reaction to a hue that arises from our senses, emotions, experiences and knowledge.

This exhibition features works from the AGA Collection that focus on colour as their primary element or property. From large abstract paintings to experiments in colour photography, this exhibition celebrates the bright, bold, brash and even the more sombre colours of our world.

Take the time to bring some colour into your world, and enjoy the work of artists from Edmonton and around the world.

Harley Morman: Let's Do the Time Warp Again

October 9, 2021-January 30, 2022

Harley Morman's Let's Do the Time Warp Again uses lenticular images to consider time and repetition. You may be familiar with these retro 'animations' in which two related images are combined and seem to come alive when you change perspective or position. Lenticulars were used on toys, bookmarks, and might have been found on any number of things in a Scholastic book fair. By using Lenticulars in his artworks, Morman presents images that transform as you move around the exhibition space and to show how a change in perspective can completely alter what and how you see.

Lenticular film is Time Warp's central material metaphor. Morman approaches it as a low craft material and embraces the ghostly glitches, stutters, and transitions of this striated 'novelty' medium. The artist uses nostalgic and campy middle school imagery to move between an institutional past and idealized present to challenge viewers to hold multiple angles simultaneously while also challenging concepts of time. Let's do the time warp again!

Making Art, Building Community: 100 Years of the Edmonton Art Club

November 6, 2021 – March 14, 2022

In 2021, the Edmonton Art Club (EAC) is celebrating their 100th anniversary as the oldest continuing art organization in Alberta. Founded in 1921, the EAC has been instrumental in helping to lay the foundation for the development of visual arts in the province. In commemoration of this significant milestone, the AGA's exhibition, Making Art, Building Community: 100 Years of the Edmonton Club, will take a broad view of the Club's past, including a selection of previous members whose work spans diverse media, subject matter and style.

George Littlechild: Here I am – Can you see Me?

November 6, 2021-March 14, 2022

Edmonton-born artist George Littlechild describes his work as “art that speaks from the heart, the social and the political.” Littlechild is committed to righting the wrongs that First Nations peoples have endured by creating work that focuses on cultural, social and political injustices. As an artist, educator, cultural worker, and a child who grew up during the ‘60s-scoop in Edmonton, Littlechild’s goal is a better world.

Featuring a series of portraits of residential schoolchildren created by Littlechild, this exhibition will show the pride, strength and beauty of First Nations people and cultures with the artist’s goal to contribute to the betterment of mankind.

The Art Gallery of Alberta invites you to experience art in your community! Please look for these exciting Travelling Exhibitions, generously funded by the Alberta Foundation for the Arts, travelling north central and north eastern Alberta (Trex Region 2).

aAron Munson, Isachsen 09, 2018. Photographic print. From the exhibition Now is the winter... Collection of the Artist

For the period September to December, 2021, Trex Region 2 begins travelling three new exhibitions in north central and north eastern Alberta. The first of these is the exhibition A Cordial Word. Presenting 18 artworks from the collection of the Alberta Foundation for the Arts, this exhibition examines flowers and the flower garden.

The second new exhibition presented by Trex is entitled ...bring a folding chair. With works from four Albertan artists of Caribbean/African heritage, the works in this exhibition explore history, heritage and contemporary concerns and recognizes the significant contributions Black Canadian artists make to Alberta.

Finally, Trex Region 2 also begins travelling the exhibition Now is the winter.... Featuring 10 photographic works produced by Edmonton artist aAron Munson and 10 works from the collection of the Alberta Foundation for the Arts, the art works in this exhibition take viewers into the heart of the winter season.

These three new exhibitions will travel north central and north eastern Alberta from September, 2021, until August of 2022 when they will transfer to other Trex regions in the province.
